DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed May 6, 2002 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), which requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 5, line 9, "present" should be -- prevent --.

The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o): In claim 5, line 2, "a saddle weld" is not disclosed in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "the loading platform" in lines 7-8. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by US Patent 5,261,647 to Venegas, Jr. et al.

Venegas, Jr. et al. discloses a guard rail assembly comprising a pair of vertical metal side members (22, Figure 2) covered by polymeric sheathing (26 and 30, Figure 2), a horizontal metal member (50) covered by polymeric sheathing (54) spanning the two vertical members, the horizontal member has a length that extends beyond the outermost extent of the vertical side members. The vertical and horizontal members are attached by way of removable fastener (38).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5,261,647 to Venegas, Jr. et al. in view of US Patent 5,354,037 to Venegas, Jr.

In the guard rail assembly of Venegas, Jr. et al., the horizontal member extends beyond the outermost extent of the vertical side members. Venegas, Jr. et al. does not show the vertical side members with a length that extends beyond the upper extent of the horizontal member; however, such an arrangement is shown in the guard rail system of US Patent 5354037. In view of US Patent 5354037, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the guard rail of Venegas, Jr. et al. such that the vertical members extend beyond the outermost extent of the horizontal members to simulate the appearance of post and rail, a popular fencing style.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5,261,647 to Venegas, Jr. et al. in view of US Patent 5,370,368 to Terrels et al.

While Venegas, Jr. et al. does not disclose that the horizontal and vertical rails are connected with a weld, Terrels et al. shows a reinforced handrail assembly and discloses that the horizontal and vertical rails can be connected by welding (column 2, lines 60-63) to form a seamless connection. In view of Terrels et al., it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to weld the rails of Venegas Jr. et al. to improve the outward appearance of the guard rail with a seamless connection.
